Emergency Numbers

- Who Should I Call In Case of An Emergency?

In the case of an emergency, it is always best to call 9-1-1 for assistance. A call to a 9-1-1 can be made from any phone and is always free. Text messages can also be sent to 9-1-1, but a phone call is the most typical and reliable way to contact emergency services. Tell the operator your exact location and describe the emergency. Depending on your type of emergency, a police car, ambulance, and/or fire truck will be sent to your location. Do not hang up the phone until emergency services arrive. All people are encouraged to call 9-1-1 where there is an emergency. You will not be asked your immigration status when calling. If you are unable to communicate in English, say the language you speak, and an interpreter will be provided.

- Calling or Texting 911 is Appropriate when:

- * Someone is hurt and needs help
- * Someone is hurting someone else
- * There is smoke or fire
- * Someone is taking something which is not theirs
- * There is suspicious activity: "If you see something... say something"
- * Text-to-911: "Call if you can... text if you can't"

- What Happens When 911 Is Called

- * The City's (IP based NG911) phone system captures the phone number, carrier and estimated location/address the call is coming from- for example, from a residence, business, cell phone tower, or cell phone handset
- * The 911 telecommunicator answers "911 what is your Emergency: Police, Fire, or EMS?" and stays on the line until the requested department answers
- * The telecommunicator asks questions- including verification of the location and phone number- to determine needs and prioritize the call, then sends the appropriate emergency service
- * Callers requesting service from any agency outside of Cleveland are transferred directly by the Telecommunicator
- * Cell phones that are not "active" or have no service plan can dial 9-1-1, however if the call is disconnected they can't be called back to verify the location or to check if an emergency exists

Reporting Emergencies To Police

- Callers should remain calm and give information slowly. All calls, emergency or not, are answered by the same operators. Callers are asked to report:
 - Name, address and phone number
 - Type of incident
 - Whether the crime is in progress or has already happened and the time it happened, if known
 - Details which may include: type of weapon, descriptions of suspects, license plate numbers, direction of travel or other details
- Callers are asked to remain on the telephone to assist the telecommunicator as much as possible, a response will not be delayed by answering questions. The more information given to the police, the better the emergency can be served. Safety is key and the caller and his/her family should stay out of harm's way. After the incident is reported, it is a good idea for the caller to write down everything that happened, as they may be contacted for additional information.

U.S. Census

Why is the US Census so important?

Also known as the Population and Housing Census, the Decennial U.S. Census is designed to count every resident in the United States. It is mandated by Article I, Section 2 of the Constitution and takes place every 10 years. The data collected by the decennial census determine the number of seats each state has in the U.S. House of Representatives and is also used to distribute hundreds of billions of dollars in federal funds to local communities.

What if Non-citizen or lacking proper immigration documents?

The U.S. Census Bureau is required by law to protect your information. The Census Bureau is not permitted to publicly release your responses in a way that could identify you. Per the Federal Cybersecurity Enhancement Act of 2015, your data are protected from cybersecurity risks through screening of the systems that transmit your data.

How can I complete a census form?

The last census was April 1, 2020, and is repeated every 10 years. You can complete the census online or by phone or mail in several different languages. Because your response is required by law, the Census Bureau will send a representative to your home to collect the necessary data if you do not submit.

What are public benefits and how can they help?

- Public Benefits are help from the government for basic needs like health care, housing, food, or cash. They can be from the federal, state, or local government.

Examples:

- SNAP (food stamps)
- Child Nutrition Programs
- Women, Infants and Children (WIC)
- School Lunch and Breakfast
- Medicaid programs (except for long-term care/nursing home benefits)
- Affordable Care Act
- Medicare, County hospitals and clinics
- COVID-19 testing, treatment & vaccination
- Public Housing/Section 8 subsidies
- Local shelters/other housing assistance
- Unemployment
- Social Security Retirement/Disability
- Workers compensation

Note for mixed-status families

- Mixed immigration/citizenship status families can apply with non-applicant protections:
 - * Some family members of applicants may choose not to apply for coverage for themselves. In that case, they do not have to provide information about their citizenship or immigration status, that information is only needed for family members who are seeking coverage.
 - * In other words, if you have a dependent or a household member, you can still apply for benefits without having to include any members who would be ineligible because of their status
- Public Charge Rule: Some immigration applications have a Public Charge test. An immigration officer uses this test to decide if a person is likely to use certain public benefits in the future.
- Your rights:
 - * Public Charge does not apply to everyone
 - * Most Public Benefits do not affect a person's immigration status
 - * Only a few benefits are considered in a public charge test
 - * Non-cash benefits used by family members will not impact your immigration status
 - * Your personal information is protected

Legal Services

Do's

- Accredited Representatives
 - Accredited Representatives are trained professionals with special training and accreditation from the U.S. Dept. of Justice. They may only work for State Department certified non-profits. You may be able to find them at community centers and local events.
- "Pro Bono" Immigration Lawyers
 - These are licensed immigration lawyers who are willing to provide their services free of charge. To do this work they are required to have graduated law school and be certified by the State BAR Association. You may find pro bono attorneys at the Legal Aid Society of Cleveland.
- Low-Cost Immigration Lawyers
 - Sometimes called "low bono", low-cost immigration lawyers work for non-profit organizations and offer professional legal services at a fraction of the cost of private attorneys. Some "low bono" agencies will ask for proof of income and might favor those who earn less. Catholic Charities of Cleveland offers low-cost immigration legal services.

Dont's/Be Cautious

- Private Immigration Lawyers
 - Private lawyers can ask for any fee to help with your immigration legal case. Although many private attorneys are excellent, some abuse their clients by providing poor legal services at very high prices. It is common to find a private attorney through a trusted recommendation.
- "Notarios"
 - Immigrants have been falling victims of scams that involve "notarios." These "notarios" claim to be able to assist the families in gaining legal status. Immigrant families have a misconception on the word "notarios." Notarios in the United States, do not necessarily have to be a legal professional as in their countries.

Becoming A U.S. Citizen

What Should I Know About My Green Card?

What is a Green Card?

Green Cards are the document that certify you are legal permanent resident (LPR) of the United States. An up-to-date Green Card is important for you to exercise all your abilities as an LPR. Without an up-to-date Green Card, you may not be able to travel abroad, get a job or start a business, or get assistance from government agencies. As such your Green Card is your most important document as an LPR.

How do I renew or replace my Green Card?

To renew or replace your green card you must apply to the DHS using an I-90 Form. The I-90 form can be found here (Insert Link later). With processing times, it is recommended that you apply for Green Card renewal up to 6 months before your previous card expires. With your I-90 Form you must send in personal information with a photo of your previous Green Card. If you are replacing a lost or stolen Green Card please report it as stolen to the police. You can use the police report in place of a photo of your old Green Card with your I-90.

How do I apply for a fee waiver?

The standard cost for an I-90 is $540 and there is approximately a 6-month waiting period. You may be eligible for an I-912 Fee Waiver if you are on government benefits or are low-income. If you are approved for this fee waiver you would not have to pay to replace your Green Card.

Who can help me?

Certified non-profits and lawyers can help you

Becoming a citizen through naturalization is a process in which a non-U.S. citizen voluntarily becomes an American citizen

- Owe their allegiance to the United States
- Are entitled to its protection
- Should exercise their rights and responsibilities as citizens

What documents do you need to start your citizenship process?

- Have had a Permanent Resident (Green) Card for at least five years, or for at least three years if you're filing as the spouse of a U.S. citizen.
- You must renew your Permanent Resident Card before applying for citizenship if:
 - * Your card will expire within six months of applying, or
 - * Your card has already expired
- You can apply for naturalization before you receive your new Green Card. But, you'll need to submit a photocopy of the receipt for your Form I-90, Application to Replace Permanent Resident Card, when you receive it.
- Meet certain eligibility requirements. To see if you're eligible, click on the link that is most similar to your situation. Some requirements may include being:
 - * At least 18 years old when you apply
 - * Able to read, write, and speak basic English
 - * Of good moral character
- Go through the 10-step naturalization process which includes:
 - * Determining your eligibility to become an American citizen
 - * Completing form N-400, the application for naturalization, and creating a free account to submit your form online
 - * Taking the U.S. Naturalization Test and having a personal interview

Becoming A U.S. Citizen Continued...

What are the fees? Can I apply for a waiver?

- \$640 (Add the $85 biometric fee for a total of $725, where applicable. See exceptions below.)
- If you're applying for naturalization (Form N-400), you might qualify for a fee reduction. There is currently no option to reduce the filing fee for a family or marriage green card (Form I-485), although you may qualify for a fee waiver (see below for more information about fee waivers).
 - * To qualify for a fee reduction, your total annual household income must equal between 150% and 200% of the Federal Poverty Guidelines
 - * To apply for the fee reduction, you must submit Form I-942 (officially called the "Request for Reduced Fee") with Form N-400 ("Application for Naturalization"), the reduced amount of the fees, and all supporting documentation. USCIS will not accept Form I-942 if you submit it after filing Form N-400
 - * Only the application filing fee will be reduced (by 50%, from $640 to $320). The biometrics fee will remain $85. Therefore, if eligible for the fee reduction, you will pay only $405. (If you're 75 or older, however, your exemption from the biometrics fee means you'll pay only $320.)

What can prevent me from becoming a citizen?

- Excessive travel outside of the United States can interfere with the continuous residence requirement mentioned above. Failing to pay taxes, lying to the government, or being convicted of a crime can have a negative impact on the "good moral character" requirements. If you have these problems, you can consult with an immigration attorney before starting the application process

What can I do if ICE stops me?

- Who/what is ICE?
 - * The U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement is a federal law enforcement agency under the U.S. Department of Homeland Security. ICE's stated mission is to protect America from the cross-border crime and illegal immigration that threaten national security and public safety.
- What rights do I have if I am stopped by ICE?
 - * When ICE agents arrest someone in public, it typically happens quickly. They may call your name out loud and ask you to confirm your name and then detain you.
 - * Before you say your name or anything else, ask, "AM I FREE TO GO?"
 - » If they say YES: Say, "I don't want to answer your questions" or "I'd rather not speak with you right now." Walk away.
 - » If they say NO: Use your right to remain silent! Say, "I want to use my right not to answer questions" and then "I want to speak to a lawyer."
 - * If ICE starts to search inside your pockets or belongings, say, "I do not consent to a search."
 - * DON'T LIE or show false documents. Don't flee or resist arrest.
 - * Don't answer questions about your immigration status or where you were born. They will use any information you provide against you. Do not hand over any foreign documents such as a passport, consular IDs, or expired visas.
 - * If you are in Criminal Court for a court date, ask to speak to your defender before they take you away.
 - * You do NOT have to give them your consular documents or passport unless they have a warrant from a judge.
 - * You do not have to sign anything.
- What can I do if a friend or loved one is arrested by ICE? How can I help a family member who is being held in ICE detention?
 - * If someone you know or care about has been arrested or detained by ICE or transferred to an immigration detention center, locating them is the first step to supporting them. You can still find someone in detention even if they have not reached you by phone.
 - * People arrested by ICE will first be processed by officers in an ICE Detention and Removal Office or a short-term facility (such as a county jail) for up to 72 hours. Then, they may be transferred to another place for a longer-term stay, often out-of-state. Some people may be transferred several times in the first few weeks. Transfers usually occur without notice to family members or lawyers.

What does it mean to have health insurance?

- What is health insurance?
 - * Health coverage pays for provider services, medications, hospital care, and special equipment when you're sick. It is also important when you're not sick. Most coverage includes immunizations for children and adults, annual visits for women and seniors, obesity screening and counseling for people of all ages, and more for free. Keep your coverage by paying your monthly premiums (if you have them).
- Are all health insurance plans the same?
 - * Insurance plans can differ by the providers you see and how much you have to pay. Medicaid and CHIP programs also vary from state to state. Check with your insurance company or state Medicaid and CHIP program to make sure you understand what services and providers your plan will pay for and how much each visit or medicine will cost. Ask them for a Summary of Benefits and Coverage document that summarizes the key features of the plan or coverage, such as the covered benefits, cost sharing provisions, and coverage limitations and exceptions.
- How can I get health insurance?
 - * You can get health care coverage through:
 - » A group coverage plan at your job or your spouse or partner's job
 - » Your parents' insurance plan, if you are under age 26
 - » A plan you purchase on your own directly from a health insurance company or through the Health Insurance Marketplace
 - » Government programs such as
 - Medicare- <https://www.medicare.gov/>
 - Medicaid- <https://www.medicaid.gov/>
 - Children's Health Insurance Program (CHIP)- <https://www.medicaid.gov/chip/index.html>
 - * The Veterans Health Administration or TRICARE for military personnel
 - * Your state (<https://www.usa.gov/states-and-territories>), if it provides a health insurance plan
 - * Continuing employer coverage from your former employer, on a temporary basis under the Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act (COBRA)
- If I have health insurance, how do I use it?
 - * You probably received a membership package with information about your coverage from either your health plan or your state Medicaid or CHIP program. Read this information because you will need it when you see a provider or if you call your insurance company to ask a question. If you can't read or understand it, call your health plan or state Medicaid or CHIP program and ask them to explain it to you
 - * Although you can get health care many different places, including the emergency department, it's best for you to get routine care and recommended preventive services from a primary care provider. There are some big differences between visits to your primary care provider and visits to the emergency department, such as cost, time spent waiting for care, and follow up

How can I keep my home safe?

- Call 9-1-1 if you smell gas
 - * Natural gas is non-toxic, colorless, odorless and lighter than air. An odor is added to help you detect a potential gas leak. Signs include:
 - » A rotten egg odor.
 - » Discolored or dead vegetation over or near the pipeline.
 - » A hissing, whistling, or roaring sound near a gas appliance or pipeline.
 - » Dirt or debris blowing into the air; persistent bubbles in water-covered areas.
 - » Flames (if a leak has ignited).
 - * If a leak/suspected leak occurs leave the area immediately, warn others to stay away, from a safe place, call 911
- Install and test smoke and carbon monoxide detectors
 - * Residents are asked to check smoke alarms and change batteries when necessary, practice an escape plan, and have a pre-planned meeting place in the event of a fire. Assistance is available from the Red Cross Operation Save-A-Life Program (216.361.5535).
- Be careful of lead poisoning, especially for children
 - * Lead is poisonous to a child's body, and can harm the brain and cause learning difficulties and behavioral problems. Many homes built before 1978 have paint containing lead. The city recommends that parents living in homes built before 1978 have their children tested.
 - * The Lead Hazard Control (LHC) Grant Program is designed to strategically advance efforts to increase lead-safe affordable housing while eliminating the possibility of childhood lead poisoning in the City of Cleveland. The LHC program provides lead risk assessments, identifies lead-based paint and provides grants to control lead-based paint hazards. The program strives to use a single approach to address various housing, health, and safety needs for low- and very low-income families with children under the age of six. These efforts will significantly improve the health of the community and quality of the housing stock.

How can I find a good job?

- Finding and getting a job can be a challenging process. Knowing more about job search methods and application techniques can help. To begin looking for jobs in your area, search by job title at CareerOneStop. Or, post your resume and register your job search with your state job bank.
- What is “part-time” versus “full-time”?
 - * “Part-time” means working fewer than 30 hours per week at one job. Part-time jobs typically do not offer job benefits, like paid vacation or employer contributions to a health insurance plan. “Full-time” means working at least 40 hours per week at one job and typically includes job benefits. However, each employer defines the terms of “part-time” and “full-time”, so it is important to ask about job benefits before you are hired.
- What documents do I need to get a job?
 - * The most common form of work authorization is a Social Security card, but an Employment Authorization Document or Green Card is also sufficient. Nearly all employers will provide you with a formal job application and ask you to complete it with your personal information, previous jobs, history of education, and a list of job references. Job references are people who can tell a new employer that you will be a reliable employee. Typically, they are your former employers or former co-workers, and not your family. For most skilled jobs, you will also need to create and submit a résumé. A résumé is a unique document that lists your name, contact information, skills, previous jobs, and history of education
- What should I be careful about when getting a job?
 - * While some companies want to help you find a job, others are more interested in taking your money. Learn how to recognize scams and file a complaint:
 - » Job scams and how to avoid them: Scammers advertise jobs the same way legitimate employers do — online (in ads, on job sites, and social media), in newspapers, and sometimes on TV and radio. They promise you a job, but what they want is your money and your personal information.
 - » Work at home schemes to avoid
 - » If you were scammed, you can file a complaint online or call the Federal Trade Commission (FTC).
- What does it mean to “climb the ladder”?
 - * “Climbing the ladder” means seeking better jobs after building experience and trust at your current job. Doing this is essential to success in the United States and requires you to ensure that your current employer will serve as a good job reference for future jobs. If you are a good employee, you will likely be paid more or earn the job references and experience you need to find a better job. If you are planning to leave a job, it is a cultural requirement to tell your employer a minimum of two weeks beforehand. If you do not do this, your employer will be unlikely serve as a job reference. Asking your employer for more responsibility or returning to school for diplomas and degrees are also good ways to “climb the ladder”
- Who can help me with all this?

What are my rights and responsibilities as a tenant?

- Tenants and landlords both have rights and responsibilities under Ohio law. For example, landlords must make repairs, keep the electrical, plumbing and sanitary fixtures in good working order, and give the tenant reasonable notice before entering the house or apartment. Tenants must keep their unit clean, use the fixtures and appliances properly, and not disturb their neighbors. The parties' lease may impose additional requirements on landlords and tenants.
- What must a tenant do?
 - * Pay rent on time and in full to avoid eviction
 - * Keep the property clean and safe
 - * Dispose of rubbish in the proper manner
 - * Keep the plumbing fixtures as clean as their condition permits
 - * Use electrical and plumbing fixtures properly
 - * Comply with housing, health, and safety codes that apply to tenants
 - * Refrain from damaging the property and keep guests from causing damage
 - * Maintain appliances supplied by the landlord in good working order
 - * Conduct yourself in a manner that does not disturb any neighbors and require guests to do the same
 - * Permit landlord to enter the dwelling unit if the request is reasonable and proper notice is given
 - * Comply with state or municipal drug laws in connection with the property and require household members and guests to do the same
- What is Renter's Insurance?
 - * You will only be required to get renters insurance if your landlord or property management company requires that tenants have it. Landlords might make renters insurance mandatory to limit the risk that tenants will come after them for personal property damages or liability costs. It's not uncommon for a landlord to require renters insurance, but fortunately, the best renters insurance companies make it easy to compare quotes online and purchase a policy.

 - East Side - Located at the corner of East 55th and Euclid Avenue (Monday-Saturday, 9am-3pm)

- What must a landlord do?
 - * Keep property in livable condition
 - * Keep the common areas clean and safe
 - * Comply with building, housing, health, and safety codes
 - * Keep in good working order all electrical, plumbing, heating, and ventilation equipment
 - * Maintain all appliances and equipment supplied by the landlord
 - * Provide running water, hot water and heat (unless the hot water and heat are controlled entirely by the tenant and supplied by a direct public utility hook-up)
 - * Provide garbage cans and trash removal (if the landlord owns four or more residential units in the same building)
 - * Give at least 24 hours notice, unless it is an emergency, before entering a tenant's unit, and enter only at reasonable times and in a reasonable manner
 - * Evict the tenant when informed by a law enforcement officer of drug activity by the tenant, a member of the tenant's household, or a guest of the tenant occurring or otherwise connected with the tenant's premises
- What is a security deposit?
 - * A landlord may collect a security deposit to cover potential unpaid rent and repair costs for damage caused by the tenant. For more information about how to request return of a security deposit, and to complete documents to request return of a security deposit, visit: <https://lasclev.org/getbacksecuritydeposit/> or text FAQ DEPOSIT to 216.242.1544 to get this link sent to your phone
- What are some important tips for tenants?
 - * Before renting, you should always ask for a written lease from the landlord and read it carefully, using a translator if needed. It is a good practice to also seek the advice of a lawyer before signing a lease. Tenants should never make any cash payments to a landlord without keeping a record of having paid or receiving a written receipt from the landlord. Finally, keep in mind that your landlord might serve as a reference for future jobs or rental applications, so be sure to maintain as positive a relationship as you can.

Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964

Provide that no person shall be subjected to discrimination on the basis of race, color or national origin under any program or activity that receives Federal financial assistance.

Under U.S. law, if you are seeking services from a government agency or an organization funded by the U.S. government, you must be provided with assistance in your language. Language access services include a free interpreter and free translation of important documents. An agency cannot force you to provide your own interpreter (such as a friend or family member, and it is recommended that you do not use a family member or friend even if they volunteer) or ask you to pay for an interpreter or translation provided by the agency.

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA)

A federal law enacted in 1974 that protects the privacy of student education records. FERPA applies to any public or private elementary, secondary, or post-secondary school and any state or local education agency that receives funds under an applicable program of the US Department of Education. The Act serves two primary purposes. It gives parents or eligible students more control over their educational records, and it prohibits educational institutions from disclosing “personally identifiable information in education records” without the written consent of an eligible student, or if the student is a minor, the student’s parents.

Title III - English Language Acquisition, Language Enhancement, and Academic Achievement Act

Part A of Title III is officially known as the English Language Acquisition, Language Enhancement, and Academic Achievement Act. Title III is a part of the federal No Child Left Behind Act of 2001. It is specifically targeted to benefit Limited English Proficient (LEP) children and immigrant youth. The Act states that LEP students must not only attain English proficiency but also meet the same academic standards as their English-speaking peers in all content areas (CA Dept. of Education). Federal funding is provided to assist districts in meeting these requirements.

What should I know about my first year as an asylee?

If you have been granted asylum, you have the right to live and work in the United States and apply for public benefits. Your first year as an asylee will be very important for your long-term success.

What documents will I need?

You should have been given a signed and stamped I-94 document or card, which is your primary form of identification as an asylee. If any information on your I-94 is incorrect, including your status or the spelling of your name, you should return to where it was given to you and ask that the incorrect information be changed. You may also contact an immigration attorney, instead. With your I-94, you can apply for a Social Security number and card, which are what nearly all United States residents use to identify themselves to employers, government offices, and many private institutions, like banks and health insurance providers. To apply for a Social Security number and card, go to www.ssa.gov (click “Languages” for a foreign language translation). You may also apply for an Employment Authorization Document (EAD) using USCIS Form I-765. Although an EAD will feature your photo and a Social Security card will not, a Social Security card will provide you with more ability to register with public and private institutions.

What documents will I need?

As an asylee, you may apply for a Green Card one year after being granted asylum, which is a process called “adjustment of status” that requires submitting USCIS Form I-485 and other documents. Although adjustment of status is not required by law, going through this process and getting a Green Card will make you a Lawful Permanent Resident, which provides stronger protections against possible changes in immigration rules and is a required step toward becoming a U.S. citizen. It is important to plan and budget for your adjustment of status application. Asylees are not eligible for a USCIS Fee Waiver and must pay the application fee, which can be as high as $1,225. You will need to include a completed USCIS Form I-693, which requires a report from a specialized doctor called a civil surgeon and may cost an additional $200 or more.

LGBTQ+ Services

How is LGBTQ+ connected with immigrants?

The LGBT Community Center of Greater Cleveland has had a visible and award-winning track-record for providing programming, resources, and services to the LGBTQ+ individuals in Northeast Ohio since their founding nearly 45 years ago. In 2020, at the height of a global pandemic and national unrest, the Center has found new ways to serve the LGBTQ+ community, who have historically been vulnerable and the most-at-risk during social-economic downturns and health crises in the United States, COVID-19 has been no exception. One of those ways the Center has expanded their work in advocating for social justice, equity, and inclusion is by providing medical needs and funding to queer immigrants, asylum-seeking, and refugee individuals.

Financial Literacy

How can I open a bank account?

- To open a bank account, you will have to complete an application at the bank, provide personal information, and present verifying documents. Typically, you will need these documents:
 - * An official identification card with your picture
 - * A passport from the United States or other country
 - * Proof of where you live, which is typically a piece of mail containing an official document or a bill
 - * A Social Security number or an Individual Taxpayer Identification Number (ITIN)
- What are a checking account and a savings account?
 - * A checking account lets you keep your money safe and still be able to spend it. A checking account lets you pay for things without using cash. Instead, you might pay with a check or a debit card. A savings account is for money you want to save. A savings account can help keep the money you are saving separate from the money you need to spend now.
- How can I keep my bank account safe?
 - * Do not give your account numbers or debit card numbers to anyone. If you lose your debit card, call the bank immediately. Regularly check your bank documents for any unusual charges or activities. Generally, banks' official websites and official apps are secure and offer an easy way to be careful about fraud and to receive alerts from the bank.

What about paying taxes?

- Paying taxes is one of the most important responsibilities for all people living in the United States. Failure to pay taxes is illegal and can jeopardize your immigration status and your ability to become a citizen.
- Some important tax terms:
 - * Internal Revenue Service (IRS) is the government agency responsible for collecting taxes from all employees and businesses.
 - * Annual income taxes are a requirement for all people to report to the IRS between January 1 and April 15 exactly how much money they earned in the previous calendar year. Typically, annual income taxes are filed using IRS Form 1040.
 - * Tax withholdings are deductions taken from each of your paychecks so the IRS can collect taxes for specific government programs. Tax withholdings require you to complete IRS Form W-4 before starting to work.
 - * Pay stubs are receipts that document each time your employer pays you, as well as your tax withholdings and annual earnings.
 - * An Individual Tax Identification Number (ITIN) is a number issued by the IRS so that people without proper work authorizations or immigration status can still file taxes.
- How do I pay annual income taxes?
 - * Every year, everyone who works in the United States and earns substantial annual income must file income taxes with the IRS between January 1 and April 15. To “file” income taxes means using a special form to declare to the IRS how much income you earned in the last calendar year. The most typical form used to file annual income taxes is IRS Form 1040. Although you can file your taxes without professional help, it is widely agreed that filing taxes in the United States is a confusing process, and many people find accountants for assistance. Similar to attorneys, you can find low-cost and pro bono accountants, and it is important to verify that an accountant is properly licensed. The website www.irs.gov is also helpful and has several language options.
- How can I pay annual income taxes if I do not have work authorization?
 - * The ITIN is issued by the IRS to people living in the United States who do not have access to typical work authorizations but still want to obey the law by paying income taxes. It is important to know that the IRS, generally, does not share ITIN information with the Department of Homeland Security. This means that if an undocumented immigrant applies for an ITIN, it is unlikely that immigration enforcement will be able to find their personal information. If you are fearful, you can always talk to a licensed immigration attorney. Using an ITIN to pay income taxes might be helpful if you plan to seek permanent status or assistance from the government. To apply for an ITIN, you must submit the IRS Form W-7. Go to www.irs.gov and type “ITIN” in the search menu.

- What does it mean to work “off the books”?
 - * Working “on the books” usually means that you are paid with a paycheck that comes with an attachment called a pay stub. A pay stub shows how much you have been paid for a given period and the entire year, and it lists your tax withholdings. Working “on the books” almost always means you will be asked to complete an IRS Form W-4 Employee’s Withholding Allowance Certificate before beginning work, and you will be given a W-2 Wage and Tax Statement at the end of every calendar year. If you do not complete a W-4 when you begin working, you are probably not working “on the books” and could be employed illegally- Failure to pay taxes and report income can jeopardize your immigration status and compromise your ability to become a citizen.
- What if my employer says I am “freelance”?
 - * If an employer asks you to complete IRS Form W-9 when you start working (instead of Form W-4), they will pay you as a “freelance employee” or “independent contractor” without deducting tax withholdings. This means you are responsible for paying “self-employment taxes” four times a year using the IRS Form 1040-ES, in addition to filing annual income taxes. Paying employees as “freelancers” is a common way for corrupt employers to avoid the responsibility of filing and paying taxes, and many people are cautious when being paid this way. Always ask the person paying you for a written receipt of payment that shows your name and Social Security number (or ITIN), the amount you are paid, the date, and the employer’s name and address.
- Do I need to pay property taxes for my home?
 - * If you do not own a home and are a renter, you do not need to pay property taxes. Your landlord should pay property taxes, and these tax costs cannot be added to your monthly rent bill. If you own a home or other real estate property, you make payments to the Cuyahoga County Treasury.
- What if I have other questions about taxes?
 - * Speaking to a certified accountant is the best option for professional advice, but be certain to verify an accountant’s credentials by going to www.irs.gov and typing “preparer credentials” in the search menu. The www.irs.gov website is also an excellent source of information, with several language options.

What are credit cards and debit cards?

- What is a debit card?
 - * A debit card is given to you by your bank when you open a checking account. You can use your debit card to buy things, and the payment will be made electronically using the money you have in your checking account. When your bank gives you a debit card, you will need to record a private personal identification number or a “PIN”. Your PIN is usually four digits, and when you buy something with your debit card, you will need to enter your PIN in the same machine that reads your card. Your PIN is private; do not read it out loud to the cashier or let anyone see you enter the numbers. It is possible to use all of the money in your checking account and still buy things with your debit card, but this will result in substantial fees from your bank called “overdraft penalties”. Your debit card is also needed when you use an automated teller machine (ATM) to withdraw cash from your checking account. It is important to know that even though your debit card looks like a credit card, using it does not build your credit score.
- What is a credit card?
 - * A credit card is given to you by a finance corporation that believes you will be able to buy things with their card and then pay them back over time. To apply for a credit card, you will typically need a Social Security number or an Individual Taxpayer Identification Number (ITIN), proof that you earn money, and a documented history of paying debts, and you must be at least 18 years old. When you buy something with your credit card, you will not need a four-digit PIN, but you will usually have to write your signature. Be very careful not to share your credit card number, and if you suspect someone has used your credit card fraudulently, call the phone number on the back of the card or on your monthly statement immediately. It is important to know that when you buy things with a credit card, you are paying with borrowed money, and you will receive a bill each month asking you to pay for the items you bought. Many Americans inadvertently find themselves unable to pay their credit card bills and are burdened by credit card debt. To learn more about credit and credit scores, read the information found elsewhere in this section of the Resource Guide.

What is a credit score?

- Your credit score is a measurement of your ability to earn and spend money responsibly. Your credit score is created by private credit reporting agencies that collect information about how you spend money and pay bills over time. If you are seeking to rent an apartment, apply for a loan from a bank, or buy a car, your credit score will be used to measure how much you can be trusted to make payments. Having a good credit score is essential to your financial stability and long-term success in the United States.
- How can I earn a good credit score?
 - * When you first come to the United States as an immigrant, any history of spending outside the U.S. will not contribute to your credit score. You will not have a credit score, which can be just as limiting as having a bad credit score. First, build good credit by always paying your bills on time, and never going into debt. Second, build good credit by using a credit card and always paying all of your monthly bills. Using a debit card will not build credit.
- What is a good credit score?
 - * Credit scores are numbers that typically range from 300 to 850. “Good credit” is generally considered a score of 700 or above, and “bad credit” is generally below 600. There are three major credit reporting agencies in the United States, and they might not all report the same exact credit score for the same person. By law, the three credit reporting agencies must provide you with a free credit score report once a year. One of the best websites to find more information is www.usa.gov/credit-reports.

What is wage theft?

- Wage theft is when an employer fails to pay you for your work. This might be a failure to pay you for your overtime hours, the tips that your employer collected on your behalf, or the last wages you earned before leaving a job. Unfortunately, immigrants and low-wage earners are most at risk of wage theft. The Economic Policy Institute found that the average wage theft committed against an Ohio worker through nonpayment of the mandatory minimum wage was $2,800. In Ohio, theft of $2,800 is a felony punishable by a jail or prison term of up to 12 months
- How can I avoid wage theft?
 - * First, you should never work “off the books”, which means you are paid only in cash without tax deductions or a written record of your wages and hours. Second, you can keep your own record of the days you work, the times you started and ended your work, and the wage your employer agreed to pay you. If your employer has failed to pay any portion of your wages, you should immediately ask to be paid properly. It is important to know that all wage earners, documented or undocumented, are protected from wage theft by federal law.
- What can I do if I am a victim of wage theft?
 - * First, you reach out the City of Cleveland Office of Equal Opportunity: The office is responsible for the administration, monitoring and enforcement of the City’s minority and female-owned business enterprise programs; the new programs for smaller, local businesses; Fannie M. Lewis Cleveland Resident Employment Law programs; and prevailing wage compliance.
 - » Michael Curry, Interim Director
 - » 601 Lakeside Ave, Room 335 Cleveland, Ohio 44114
 - » P: 216.664.4152
- Second, you can file a complaint with the U.S. Department of Labor’s Wage and Hour Division by calling 908-317-8611 or by visiting www.dol.gov/whd/howtofilecomplaint.htm.
 - » When you call, you will be asked questions about your employment, but you will not be asked your immigration status.

How can I ride the bus, train, or other public transportation?

- Cleveland's Regional Transit Authority (RTA) runs free trolley buses on weekdays, as well as nights and weekends. RTA also operates a rail line between Cleveland Hopkins International Airport and Tower City Center every 15 minutes. Cleveland's transit system is rather substantial with bus, trolley and train lines all throughout the city. Be sure to visit RTA's website to plan your routes and purchase fares online before heading to the city.

Do I really need a mobile phone?

- Yes. Access to a smartphone will increase your ability to stay safe, connect with jobs and services, and maintain relationships. The United States culture can seem impatient and demanding, and it is very rare that an employer will call your home, leave a message, or wait for you to call back. If friends or people you know have job recommendations or things they would like to share, it is likely that they will send a text message rather than visit you in person. Making international calls using web-based apps on a smartphone can be much cheaper than using a landline phone or buying phone cards. And in the case of an emergency, a mobile phone might be the only way to call 9-1-1 for help.
- Where can I get a mobile phone?
 - * Many mobile phone companies offer different plans. Most times, you must buy a phone and pay monthly bills. Typically, you can buy a plan that offers minutes and texts only, or a plan that also includes Internet data. The cost of plans usually ranges from $25 to $60 per month.
- What are “scam” calls?
 - * Around the world, criminals use smartphones to harm to people with “scam” calls or text messages. In the United States, it is extremely rare for any federal government agency to contact you by phone. The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) will never call your phone and ask for your Social Security number or Individual Tax Identification Number (ITIN). If someone contacts you on your phone and asks you for personal information or to make a payment, you should be suspicious and wait for a letter in the mail, which is the customary way of sending official communications in the United States.
